Two are better than one! We thought we were hiking into the mountains just to have a special church service. But, just as service was over, it started pouring rain causing us to take shelter in a little hut. While we were waiting out the storm, Pablo and Anastacia decided it would be a good time to have their wedding. After a counseling session we agreed to marry them. There were no decorations, pomp, or music, just the sound of falling rain on the tin roof of a tiny hut packed full of soaked, muddy guests.

We are so excited about what God is doing in and with Pablo and Anastacia. Shortly after marriage they assumed a leadership responsibility such a pleasant surprise to arrive and find that not only had this work continued but it was going strong and growing under the leadership of this couple. It's been such a blessing to have them help carry the burden in Alto Quiel.

Ivan is another example of God's handiwork. This spring he was saved and baptized in our new work in Jaramillo. Since there was no one else and we saw his sincere hunger and willing spirit, we left Ivan in charge while we were in the U.S. this summer. We provided some Bible study material and put them in God's hands. We were so happy to return and find them still having regular services. It was also encouraging to see several new souls had given their hearts to the Lord.

in Alto Quiel, the area we've been working in for over a year. In August we returned to Panama after a couple of months of itineration in the U.S. It was God gave us the burden of raising up workers to take the gospel back to their villages when he sent us here. It's amazing to sit back and watch God fulfill his purpose in young men and women's lives. Some have already expressed their burden and desire to see their people experience salvation.

It seems like God is really sending revival to these mountains. Several people we have been working with for a while have recently prayed for salvation. We were touched a couple weeks ago by a young man passing by who decided to stop and listen to the service. He didn't come forward when the altar call was given but met us at the car asking if he had to wait until the next service to pray. Of course we told him "no, we can pray right now!" After praying we gave him a Bible and he said he had never owned his own

Bible. The next time he came back to service with his wife his testimony was "I feel full!!"

Please pray for us and these 4 camps as we continue to hold weekly services in each one.

God Bless,
